

RUINED CITIES SOON WILL BE BUT GREAT TOMBS OF SILENCE

THOUSANDS DIE ON THE COAST OF SAD CALABRIA

Die From Lack of Supplies; American Ship to Give Relief; Queen on Verge of Collapse

CATANIA, Jan. 6.—Talcateria, with the exception of troops at Reggio, was evacuated today, and by the end of the week only soldiers will remain in Messina. Next Sunday these cities will be great, silent tombs, patrolled by the military, and holding in their ruins the bodies of thousands of citizens who died when their homes were destroyed.

Little further effort will be made to recover dead bodies, but soldiers are going carefully through the ruins seeking for traces of persons who may still be alive. A man was taken unconscious from a house in Messina where he had finally fainted from hunger. When he recovered this afternoon he said he knew nothing of what had happened.

There is little fear of typhoid fever in the ruined cities as the survivors are being taken away so rapidly. The greatest care now is necessary here among the refugees and at Naples where the injured will be received. The insane survivors of the great disaster need constant attention.

THOUSANDS DIE ON COAST FOR WANT OF SUPPLIES

Thousands of victims have died on the Calabrian coast in the interior towns through lack of sufficient supplies and relief. Although the authorities are doing all they can to relieve distress, the necessary delay in transportation of medicines and food has caused a fearful loss of lives in the smaller towns. Immediately after the quake all available aid was sent to Messina and Reggio and a few of the larger towns, while the villages were left without succor.

The distress through the countryside has assumed great proportions and urgent appeals for help are being received at Palermo and Naples. Orders have been forwarded to Civita Vecchia to the Bayern to dispense supplies along the Calabrian coast and the interior towns for the relief of immediate sufferers. The National Italian Red Cross officials announced that the relief fund had reached five millions of dollars.

QUEEN HELENA WARNED OF COMPLETE COLLAPSE

ROME, Jan. 6.—The court physicians today informed Queen Helena that a complete collapse was inevitable unless she desists from working among the earthquake victims. Her Highness is extremely nervous as a result of overwork, but ignored the warning of the physicians. Her physical and mental condition have occasioned grave alarm.

RECURRING SHOCKS ARE AMONG MOST SEVERE

PALERMO, Jan. 6.—Two of the six recurring shocks yesterday at Messina were the most severe since the great tremor destroyed part of Sicily and Calabria, according to reports received today. Several walls toppled. Many slight undulations of the earth occurred throughout the day and night but are unnoticed now by the troops who are accustomed to them.

Fleet Delayed in Sailing

PORT SAID, Jan. 6.—The American battleships detached from the fleet and ordered to Italy, were unable to finish coaling last night and did not sail until early today.

CALIFORNIA LEADS IN LIST OF STATES AIDING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Miss Mabel Boardman, secretary of the Red Cross Society, reports that American subscriptions received through the Red Cross for earthquake sufferers in Italy amount to more than $400,000 and will reach $500,000 probably.

Subscriptions by states received by the American Red Cross to date for the relief include the following:

California, $80,170; Illinois, $26,876; Missouri, $23,052; Washington, $1450; Nebraska, $1000.

FRISCO GIVES $114,162 FOR ITALIAN RELIEF

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Total subscriptions to the Italian earthquake relief fund from this city now amount to $114,162, including the $50,000 set aside from the San Francisco relief fund. Of the other $64,000, daily shipments of $10,000 each, totaling $40,000, have been made to National Red Cross headquarters at Washington, D. C.

AWFUL CONDITIONS INCREASE WITH DISEASE

ROME, Jan. 6.—The report from Messina that typhoid fever has broken out there has filled the authorities with alarm and apprehension.

Earthquakes occurred at Reggio yesterday at intervals of twenty minutes, with a strong quake at noon, causing many ruined walls to collapse and causing a panic, but no casualties.

Earthquake shocks also are continuing at Messina.

The official figures compiled thus far show that 14,000 have been buried in the cemeteries; that 9000 refugees left the city, and that 9000 persons still remain here.

13,000 refugees have reached Naples, 6000 of whom were injured. 50 per cent of all taken out of the ruins were too weak to survive. Many went mad.

America to the Front

The steamer Bayern loaded with food and medical supplies was received yesterday by King Victor Emanuel from Ambassador Griscorn from the American people. The king said Americans were always first. The U. S. gunboat Scorpion left Naples yesterday for Messina, loaded with supplies.

At Reggio voices are still heard beneath the ruins asking for succor, and many living people were taken from the ruins. Dead bodies still lie everywhere, but soon the buildings will be razed and all bodies not buried will be burned.

In spite of relief thousands still suffer for food and shelter, and with madness and hunger in sight the scenes are pitiful.

Weather Forecast

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Rain to night and Thursday.

COLD WEATHER IS PREDICTED BY THE WEATHER BUREAU

Commercial Agent Valla this afternoon received the following dispatch from Southern Pacific headquarters, with the request that fruit growers and shippers be notified:

"The weather bureau advises that a cold wave, reaching as far south as the north Central states, will be very severe beyond the Rocky mountains. It will extend to the Atlantic coast and as far south as Virginia."

Wants Free Text Books

Senator Estudillo of Riverside has a measure to provide free school books for students. Scholars now cost their parents about $184,000 a year for books. Estudillo argues that as the state gives pencils, paper, free libraries and free teachers to the children it should throw in the books.

TRANSUE IS OPPOSED IN HIS AMBITION

Assemblyman Transue of Los Angeles, has encountered opposition from Members of the Southern California delegation in his ambition to be chairman of the ways and means committee of the lower house.

Trouble was expected from the north, but even the south is jealous over giving Los Angeles both the speakership of the House and the chairmanship of the most important committee. This gives Beardslee a chance, as he turned to the chairmanship of this committee after losing the speakership.

MARTINELLI'S BILL IS DISTURBED BY SOME

Huntington Beach Company Doe Not Want Boundaries As Designated

DELEGATION OF CITIZENS HEARD

The Supervisors Put Off Action on the Matter Until Jan. 11

A delegation of citizens of Huntington Beach were before the Board of Supervisors this morning to urge the granting of the petition of fifty-eight Huntington Beach citizens for the incorporation of the city. Some opposition to incorporation has developed, and the matter of acting on the petition was continued by the supervisors to Jan. 11 at 10 o'clock, at which time a remonstrance may be heard. The opposition comes mainly from the Huntington Beach Co., which does not object to incorporation but objects to the area included. The company believes the boundaries should not include certain of the company's property.

Of the delegation of ten or twelve present at the meeting of the supervisors today addresses were made the board by T. B. Talbert, C. W. Warner, W. T. Newland and C. D. Heartwell.

He asks that the direct primary name all elective officers other than presidential electors, embracing all parties.

The message recommends the most drastic measures for the protection of life from reckless automobilists.

ARGUING CASE BEFORE JURY

Defense Put No Witnesses on the Stand to Refute the Charges

The prosecution in the case of John Richards, now on trial for embezzling $194.65 from the Edison Electric Co., finished its case at 11:30 o'clock this morning, and court adjourned until 1:30.

The prosecution's case against Richards in short is this. Last April the traveling auditor of the Edison Electric Co. found that the company had overcharged the San Joaquin Fruit Co. $194.65. Credit was given the fruit company on the power company's books, but it is claimed Richards collected the next bill from the San Joaquin Fruit Co. just as though there was no credit of $194.65, concerning which the fruit company knew nothing.

As evidence of what in law is called guilty knowledge, the prosecution yesterday put on two witnesses to prove collections made by Richards but never accounted for to the company. C. A. Fowler testified to paying Richards $55.25 and A. B. Gardner to paying Richards $60. W. P. Holden, formerly cashier of the power company, testified that the sums had not been turned over to the company.

D. A. Trott, traveling auditor for the Edison Electric Co., testified concerning the books of the company, and identified Richards' handwriting for entries found on the power register.

The defense did not put on any testimony, and arguments are being heard this afternoon. The case will go to the jury before 5 o'clock. The defense takes the attitude that the loss of the money has not been tied conclusively on Richards.

CONSTABLE WINS IN A DESPERATE FIGHT

Litten saw a knife in Marquez's pocket, and took it away from him. Marquez seized a hatchet and then the real trouble began.

GIRODANA'S BROTHER COMMITTED SUICIDE

Smeltzer Man Anxiously Awaits News From Earthquake District

SMELTZER, Jan. 5—Thursday, Dec. 31st, marked the extreme high point in celery shipments from Orange county this season, the California Vegetable Union having out thirty cars for the Celery Growers Association, the Association two cars for the local trade and Pinkham & McKeavitt a couple of cars. The fogs and warm weather of the past two weeks, instead of causing blight, have done the celery much good and present shipments are of the finest stock yet and bring good prices. Returns for the December pool are not as yet available but this month will be the best paying in years. Prices for the past week were reduced five cents per dozen on all grades and orders are much heavier on that account.

The Bordeaux mixture used as a spray has proven a thorough preventative of blight, and the Golden West is using a spray for Aphids on their cabbage. This also is proving successful and they will market a fine paying crop of cabbage the coming spring, there being short crops over practically the entire country for the spring market.

The Golden West has a gasoline engine in their blacksmith shop to run the horse clippers and blower and drill press and will soon install a power hammer for heavy work. S. J. Hewitt is in charge of the shop, and aside from being a good workman he keeps his shop in the best condition of any place I have seen for a long time.

Frank Luton was a visitor to Los Angeles Sunday.

New Year passed, on the whole, very quietly with us, there being only a few guns fired and the ranch bell rung for a few minutes. The Golden West ranch crew and the Celery Growers Association office force worked. Most all the rest celebrated to a greater or less extent and were able to work next morning.

There was a dance given at Hotel Golden West Wednesday night. Among the guests were Misses Emma Cowser and Minnie Washburn and Mr. Smith from Huntington Beach. Sunday night there was another informal party given, Frank Zimmerman and Miss Margaret Cowser from Los Angeles and Miss Minnie Washburn and Jack McLaren from Huntington Beach being the out-of-town guests.

Roscoe Girodana received a telephone message from Los Angeles last Tuesday night stating that his brother, G. Girodana was very sick. Later news from there is that the brother committed suicide by taking carbolic acid in wine. No cause is known for the act as the last time he was seen

Train Delayed

Wednesday night of last week when the engine coming down for the Celery Special got as far as Westminster the internal arrangements of the throttle became loosened and it stuck so that they could not move it. They had to wire to Los Angeles for another engine to come down for the train so it was 11 p. m. when they got to us and 2 a. m. when they finally pulled out of town with some twenty-six cars.

Miss Valeria Russell returned Monday to Watts where she will re-enter school after passing the holidays with her parents here. She gave a very enjoyable card party and supper to a few friends at her home Saturday night. Those attending were Miss Georgia Boehme, Art Messenger and Elmer Wolter.

Mr. A. Gans was a Sunday visitor to Los Angeles.

Mr. W. G. Russell has severed his connection with the Golden West and leaves this week for Tulare county. In him Smeltzer people lose a good workman and neighbor. Rheumatism necessitates his removal to a dryer climate.

Mrs. Jennie Pickard was a visitor to Pasadena New Years day to see the Tournament. She is from Minnesota and roses in January seem quite a novelty to her.

The post-card craze has again hit Smeltzer after a respite of something more than a month and both inbound and outbound traffic in them is becoming quite heavy. Art Messenger and Elmer Wolter were the recipients of some very fine specimens.

IMPERIAL HOPING THAT ACTUAL WORK IS ON FOR RAILWAY

IMPERIAL, Jan. 6.—It is authoritatively stated by the Imperial Daily Standard that an order has been issued within three days for Surveyor Witt, of the San Diego and Arizona railroad, to make a survey for the Southern Pacific leg of the projected San Diego-Arizona railroad. The survey is ordered to begin in section eight, township sixteen, range thirteen, in Imperial county, passing through the northeast corner of Silsbee, a small town seven miles southwest of Imperial, on through Imperial and north across the main line of the Southern Pacific near Iris, joining the main line of the Santa Fe near Parker. San Diego and Arizona surveyors have been working in the Imperial Valley several years but this is the first of what is said to be authentic information as to definite construction.

The Standard Oil Company this winter is locating its only distributing plant between Tucson and Los Angeles in this place, and this is considered significant in connection with railroad building through the valley.

Walnut Glut

Walnut growers of Southern California are endeavoring to find a reason for the apparent glut of walnuts. The production is barely above normal, and should have been taken without any remaining in the California storehouses at this time. MARRIED AT ORANGE ON SUNDAY, JAN. 3

At the home of Mrs. McNeil at Orange a pretty wedding took place Sunday, Jan. 3, when her daughter, Miss Flossie McNeil, became the bride of Loomis King. Rev. Parker, former pastor of the Presbyterian church performed the ceremony. The day was also the twelfth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Luther, the bride's sister and her husband.

Following congratulations a wedding dinner was served, together with a beautiful layer cake. The bride cut the cake and gave to each guest a small piece. Mr. Julius Bleisener, wife and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Luther and son, and Mrs. McNeil were present. After dinner the bride and groom were taken in a carriage to the depot where they made their departure for Tulare, where Mr. King has a ranch.

COOKING WAS DONE BY THE HOST HIMSELF

Mr. Bate Eckhardt most delightfully entertained six young ladies at an oyster and chicken course dinner last evening. The supper was entirely cooked by the host and was delicious.

Judging from the sounds of mirth issuing through the closed doors, those on the inside had rather more fun than those on the outside.

FORMER PASTOR COLLECTING TO GIVE AID

El Modena Folk Welcomed Old Friends Who Were There From Indiana

EL MODENA, Jan. 5.—Mrs. Caroline Hunnicutt of Whittier, former pastor here, occupied the pulpit here Sabbath morning, her theme being "Witnessing for Christ," speaking in a convincing way.

Just as church had assembled those who have lived here for some years were pleasantly surprised to see the usher seating two old friends and former storekeepers here, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Burrows of Indiana. Mrs. Burrows was the Junior superintendent and remarked that she had tried to picture in her mind just how much her little boys and girls had grown, but was surprised to have to look up to see the faces of some of them. They went on to San Diego for a short time and there will return and visit here.

Mr. Albert Lee of Villa Park, was at church here Sunday.

Miss Ina Washburn is home from Reedley, Fresno county, to spend the winter. A friend accompanied her.

The El Modena W. C. T. U. is to meet at the home of Mrs. Cutright next Friday afternoon. There will be refreshments, and a free will offering will be used as the ladies see fit.

S. H. Frazer is moving to his new home on Palmyra avenue, Orange.

There are several Hoosiers wintering in El Modena. El Modena is a good place for anyone to winter in. Fresh vegetables and tomatoes on the table for New Year's is a novelty.

Mrs. Johnstone is suffering very much from her eyes. She is afraid she is losing her sight, as she can neither read nor write now.

The meetings just closed by the student band at the Methodist church at Orange, has been well attended by the young people here. Sabbath evening the C. E. met at 6 o'clock, that those who wished to might attend the services at Orange.

The Sunday school installed new officers Sunday morning. Mr. Durham is superintendent, Miss Viola Lentz secretary, and Lester Beymer treasurer.

Mrs. Palmer, Mr. Crist's sister, left for her Long Beach home Saturday, spending the day in the city with her daughter, Mrs. Dixon. Mrs. Palmer had been spending the holidays with her brother.

Farmers are getting anxious about rain. They fear the barley crop will suffer if rain does not come soon. Quite an acreage is planted near the foothills.

Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless aid to prepare the system for baby's coming and rendering the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable, pelvic catarrhal drain, prolapsus, anteversion or retroversion or other displacements of the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the Favorite Prescription, send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same.

You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it.

Mr. Hanker is now employed on the reservoir, having given up his work at the Olive mill.

Rev. Newcome, formerly of Villa Park, writes from San Diego that his eldest daughter, Miss Nellie, has secured a position in the kindergarten of San Diego, and that the two young daughters have entered the hospital to take training for nurses.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lord and Miss Bessie Squires attended the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena. They visited, while there, with Mrs. Lord's brother, Geo. Miller, and his family, and met many old Villa Park residents.

A pleasant evening was spent in games, flinch being the principal amusement. Delicious refreshments were served and a splendid time enjoyed by all.

Commenced Work

Dr. Talley, a recent arrival from St. Louis, has commenced work on his new home on the corner of Culver avenue and Orange street, on the lot purchased of J. C. Briggs.

ANAHEIM DEDICATES DRINKING FOUNTAIN

ANAHEIM, Jan. 6.—The public drink fountain donated to this city by the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has just been completed and the city is very proud of it. Work on it has been in progress for some time and it will shortly be placed in service. It serves as a practical exemplification of the W. C. T. U. idea, "Free cold water to all mankind." Dedicating exercises were held today.

HEARTY APPETITE BUT AFRAID TO EAT

Why Not Put an End to Your Stomach Trouble Forever With Diapepsin

—Some people think they have indigestion, others catarrh of the stomach, others nervousness, cancer or dyspepsia, etc. Call it this if you will, but the real name for your trouble is Food Fermentation, with only partial digestion. Everything you eat turns to either acid, stomach gas or stomach poison, which weakens the digestive organs, causing a lack of gastric juice. Your food sours, is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, burning sensation, a feeling of vomiting, heartburn, water brash and tenderness in the pit of the stomach, slimy tongue, bad taste in the mouth, constipation, nausea, belching of gas, dizziness, sick headaches, mental depression and many other common symptoms.

You can cure all this by not eating, by not putting any food in your stomach to ferment; but how about the nourishment needed to sustain your bodily strength? If you are a stomach sufferer, either man or woman, young or old, whether you call it indigestion or any other name, go now to your druggist and give 50 cents for a case of Pape's Diapepsin.

Every possible kind of stomach trouble is readily cured by Diapepsin, which takes right hold of the food in your stomach and digests it alone, without the help of the stomach, just as if your stomach wasn't there.

After a few days' use of Diapepsin your stomach will again be in good working order, your meals will thoroughly digest and your intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will have no use for laxatives or liver regulators.

THE S. A. V. I. CO.
The discussion of the proposition to increase the capital stock of the S. A. V. I. Co. from $100,000 to $500,000 so far has been confined to Mr. Gardner and Mr. Jackman. The Register had hoped it would and still hopes it will take a wider range.
This is a question the Register does not feel competent to discuss editorially, further than to say that further development and conservation of the water supply for this valley seems imperative if we are to utilize fully our resources of soil and climate. The method to be employed in doing so is a question for engineers, financiers, attorneys and practical irrigators to settle. The problem is not a simple one and should engage the best powers in its solution.
In passing we desire to set Mr. Jackman right in the matter of references and inferences and implications with respect to "paid attorney." Mr. Jackman has explained to us fully, and in his second article published in this paper he made it plain, that in using that term he had no thought of Mr. Gardner, but referred to the S. A. V. I. Company's attorney in fact.

MR. TAFT'S NEW YEAR SENTIMENT

Le Matin of Paris cabled President-elect Taft for a New Year sentiment to be printed in the Matin on New Year's morning, suggested by the following question: "What is your wish for the new year regarding the situation at home and abroad?" Mr. Taft sent the following message:
"My most earnest wish is for the preservation of the peace of the world and for the continuance of friendly relations which this nation enjoys with all other nations of the earth. Let us hope that with the completion of the year 1909 the necessity of settling disputes between nations by brute force will be found even more remote than it is now.
"At home we all, of course, look forward to a continuance of the happiness and prosperity we now enjoy."

SQUARE DEAL DEMANDED.

The article written for the Register by Mr. E. E. Keech, on the Oregon senatorship attracted general attention and elicited extended favorable comment.
The Oregon Republicans who are encouraging the movement for the Republican members of the legislature to disregard their pledges and vote for a Republican as senator instead of Governor Chamberlain, who was the popular choice at the election held last summer, have been generally condemned, and now comes a severe jolt from President Roosevelt who insists on referring to Chamberlain as "senator elect."
Commenting on this, the Riverside Press says: "The wisdom of a law that ties up a Republican to vote for a Democrat, or vice versa, may be questioned; but that is the law in Oregon, and until it is changed it should be respected. The candidates for the legislature signed a pledge to vote for that candidate for the United States senate who should receive a plurality of the popular vote, no matter what their party affiliations or personal preferences might be. The people of the state voted for Chamberlain; and the only honorable thing for the legislature to do is to ratify that choice and elect him."

HONEST AND COURAGEOUS

Is it worse to steal a ride or a railroad? That is the question raised by Warden J. C. Sanders, of the Fort Madison penitentiary, Iowa, recently, when he made a mild sensation by freely expressing his views before the State Board of Control on the subject of penology.
He said he would allow no convict to be beaten or subjected to solitary confinement, and would do all in his power to furnish pleasure for the inmates of the prison. He advocated abolition of capital punishment and also of life imprisonment on circumstantial evidence.
Among other of his striking remarks was the following: "If a man steals a ride on a railroad he is called a hobo; if he steals the whole railroad, his name is emblazoned in history as a financier."

There are only two incorporated towns in Tulare county that tolerate saloons—Porterville and Visalia. In Dinuba the prohibition ordinance goes into effect on January 1 and Porterville is to vote on closing the saloons on January 12. There is every prospect that the election will be favorable to that step, and if so, the county seat, Visalia, will be the only city in the county with open saloons. And the temperance forces are closing in on Visalia.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Animal tuberculosis is on the increase in this country and is causing a loss to stock interests, of $14,000,000 a year. Of beef cattle one per cent is affected, hogs two per cent, dairy cattle ten per cent.

A Kansas exchange prints an editorial headed, "Vir Sapi Qui Pauca Loquitur." The Des Moines Tribune declares that it is just such tactics that put the populist party out of business in that state.

In an outburst of enthusiasm, a divinity student in a North Carolina college uttered this earnest prayer: "Give us all pure hearts; give us all brave hearts; give us all clean hearts; give us all sweet hearts!" To which the congregation responded: "Amen!"

A Dresden physician says "electric ophthalmia" is the result of constant working under electric lights and brings on a condition which results in cataract. According to this gentleman, the damage is done by the ultra-violet rays, and can be overcome by the use of spectacles of a yellowish or greenish tint, which he predicts will become universal as soon as the ex-

PROPOSED DIRECT PRIMARY BILL

A careful scrutiny of the direct primary bill, prepared by the Direct Primary League for submission to the coming legislature, warrants the opinion that it is a good measure, prepared in good faith by good men, and that if it were enacted into law just as it is it would prove reasonably satisfactory.
In saying this consideration is given to the state of the public mind at this time, which is not prepared for what it will be prepared for ten years hence. For instance, the bill proposes to do away with nominating conventions entirely, whereas, ten years later, nominating conventions are likely to be provided for to be held before or after primary elections in order to prevent nominations being made by insignificant minorities of the whole vote cast. This is the supreme danger of a direct primary nominating system, but that cannot well be provided against at this time. It were better also if nominations for judicial positions were made by petition only, and left entirely out of partisan controversy, but that is likely to be accomplished by another measure and this one made conformable to it.
The measure is founded upon the assumption that government shall be by political parties and that if there are to be non-partisan candidacies they must be presented to voters by petition and not by primary elections. The test of time has proven this, in the main, sound. In no other way can government be by a majority. Without political parties the voting constituencies inevitably split up into factions and whoever takes office must govern with a majority against him, and, sometimes, with a small minority committed to his support. This makes government irresponsible and uncertain. It is better to fight differences out in contests within political organizations to the end that government may be by responsible parties, as in England and America, rather than by irresponsible and unstable coalitions as in France and Germany.

Now what of the campaign for this measure before the legislature? The Herrin organization holds a majority in the legislature, not as absolutely as last session, but sufficiently to serve the purposes of the Political Bureau of the Southern Pacific Company UNLESS THE WHOLE STATE PUTS ITSELF INTO ACTION FOR THE THINGS IT WANTS AND WILL HAVE. No person of sound mind supposes for a moment that the Herrin machine wants a direct primary law that will permit the people to direct. Mr. Herrin wants to do the directing. Back of Mr. Herrin stands Mr. Harriman and back of Mr. Harriman stands the whole Standard Oil con-fraternity who do not wish the men of California to govern California. They want to govern it through Harriman, Herrin and the Southern Pacific Political Bureau. The existing system is adequate to that end. Herrin and his henchmen will find some way of defeating this or any other sincere measure—UNLESS THE MEN OF CALIFORNIA MAKE IT PLAIN THAT THEY WILL NOT BE TRIFLED WITH. In the senate is E. I. Wolfe and in the assembly Grover L. Johnson, able, artful lieutenants of Herrin. They will "queer" this bill if they can.
Therefore the only thing for the Men of California to do is to make a wedge of themselves behind the bill submitted by the Direct Primary League and with it break the Southern Pacific's legislative line. The bill is not perfect, but it is infinitely nearer perfect as it is than it will be after the Herrin forces shall have amended it into an unspeakable hodge-podge and so out of court. Those who believe with the California Weekly that the ultimate direct primary law will differ from this bill in essential particulars can afford to wait for time to justify their opinion, but they cannot afford to put themselves in an attitude of hostility to this measure. Herrin has dug a pit for such friends of a direct primary to fall into. Therefore get in behind this bill and push it along.

The Kansas Tin Shop
has been "looking backward" for the past few days and it appears in evidence that, while there has not been, during the past year, so much money taken in "over the counter" as during the previous year, the amount of goods handled compares well with the few previous "fat" years—the same goods costing less money.
There is no need of anybody disputing the fact that we have been pretty busy during the past year, and each of our helpers in the shop and store (there are ten of them), have done their part well and have helped us to make a success of the year's business.
Finding the "balance" on the right side of the ledger, we begin the new year with confidence and hope in the future, and expect to take what's coming to us and "look pleasant" during the days and months of the year One Thousand Nine Hundred and Nine.

What Makes a Bank Strong?
In judging a bank, always remember that it is Capital, Surplus and Undivided Profits that give security to the depositor, because that money is what stands between you as a depositor and any possible shrinkage in the securities held by the bank.

Social and PersonalTook Auto Ride

Mr. Morgan McKoon, who was present and made an address to the W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon, also gave a splendid fifteen minute talk to the High School during the day. He was a guest this morning in an auto ride over the city, given by Mr. J. C. Thomas, the other guests on the ride being Mrs. Lea Warren and Mrs. J. E. Tillotson.

All Day Meeting

The different women's societies of the First M. E. church held their all-day meeting today. The usual generous dinner for the members of the church and their families was served and enjoyed by a large number.

In the afternoon a program was given under direction of the Foreign Missionary Society, with Mrs. T. C. Miller and Mrs. Huddellstone in charge. The afternoon outline of the study of the "Moslem Religion," which is the subject now being considered by the society, was given by Mrs. Belle Rogers. Music was a pleasant part of the program.

These all-day meetings are an important part of the social and spiritual life of the church and are always welcomed by the members both of church and congregation.

Mr. Morgan McKoon, president of the New York L. T. L., who delivered two addresses here yesterday in the interest of the L. T. L. work, was the over-night guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lea Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Pickner of Austin, Wis., who have previously enjoyed a Southern California winter in Santa Ana, are once more here and will be the all-winter guests of Mrs. Pickner's sister, Miss M. P. Knight of Spurgeon street.

Farewell Social

The young people of the First Presbyterian church last night bade farewell to Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis with a social given in their honor at the church.

Various amusements, including a "wheel of products" game and the making of a pig book, appropriate as a souvenir for Mr. Lewis, who will raise hogs on his Imperial Valley ranch, were among the many amusements of the evening. Refreshments of cake and cocoa were served. About thirty-five guests were present.

A Baracca Banquet

On next Friday evening the Baracca class of the Methodist church, South, will hold a banquet at G. A. R. Hall, to which the class has invited a number of friends. Following the banquet, a program will be presented. After the conclusion of the event at G. A. R. Hall, the guests will be invited to the church, where hot tamales will be served in the dining room.

Strenuous Times Ahead

The installing teams of the I. O. O. F. and Rebekah lodges are leading a busy life just now.

Last night the I. O. O. F. installing team, consisting of District Deputy George Riley, R. L. Dickinson, G. E. Peters, C. W. Sheats, L. F. Sheats, Clinton Hubbard and J. W. Mitchell, went over to Anaheim to install the officers of the subordinate lodge of Odd Fellows at that place.

On Monday night the Rebekah installing staff went to Orange to install the officers of Ruby Rebekah lodge into their respective chairs. Mrs. Flower headed the team, her assistants being Mesdames Hennessey, Kling, Ott, Chandler, Rogers, Clark, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sheats, Mrs. Beswick and other Rebekah members from Santa Ana were present.

Tomorrow night the I. O. O. F. team will again be in demand for the installation ceremony of Santa Ana lodge, No. 236, I. O. O. F.

On Friday night there will be a joint installation of the I. O. O. F. Encampment and the Rebekah lodges at Anaheim, when the services of both the installing teams will be required. On Saturday night the men's team will be needed at Orange where the subordinate I. O. O. F. lodge will have its officers installed.

An Annual Reunion

Once a year the Congregational church people gather in what might well be termed a church family reunion, meeting at the church and partaking of a feast prepared by the ladies, joining in a social time, shaking hands in a good old fashioned way and otherwise demonstrating a friendly and fraternal spirit. Incidentally a business meeting is held, reports of the year's work in all departments are heard and new officers are chosen for the new year's duties.

This pleasant annual affair for this year came off last night at the church. It was a delightful coming together; the auditorium was cheery with light, with long and short tables draped in snowy linen and brightened with the glint of crystal and silver and the vivid glow of red geraniums massed in vases; people's faces shone with good feeling, and the hand clasps of greeting were hearty and sincere. Overt the tables, loaded with good things, went the shuttle of genial converse as friend met friend, or fraternized with the "strangers within the gates."

Last night was particularly a red-letter night as it signaled a well-coming of Rev. Mr. Secombe, the new pastor, and his family into the social life of the church. Mr. Secombe presided as moderator over the business meeting following the supper.

Reports from the various departments showed good organization, and in some of the activities the work was particularly promising. The officers elected for the year are: Clerk, Miss Jeanette Rowell; treasurer, A. B. Gardner; solicitor, E. M. Nealley; collector, A. J. Crookshank; deacons, C. K. Worrell, J. A. Cranston, Fred Bangs, A. H. Nickell; trustees, E. M. Nealley, W. B. Tedford, Ralph Mead, W. N. Baker, C. S. Crookshank; chorister, Mrs. Ella Fyfe; organist, Miss Daisy Roberts; head usher, W. S. Decker.

Took Part in Dedication

While the W. C. T. U. meeting of yesterday was occurring here, the Anaheim W. C. T. U. was engaged in the dedicatory exercises of the new drinking fountain donated by it to the city of Anaheim.

From Santa Ana there were present Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Stevenson, Miss Eagleson, County W. C. T. U. President Mrs. E. B. Norman, Mrs. Belle Rogers, Samson Edwards. Rev. Stevenson made an impressive talk on "Temperance Work," and Mrs. Norman gave an address on "Water." Mrs. Hester Griffith, state W. C. T. U. president, made the dedicatory speech. Rev. Mitchell of Anaheim read the poem by Ella Wheeler Wilcox, that was read at the dedication of the Santa Ana fountain, and the fountain was accepted by the mayor on behalf of the city. The exercises were witnessed by a large crowd of people, many of whom joined in a reception given later to Mrs. Griffith and the other visitors.

George Lewis left today for Imperial Valley, accompanied by Frank Mercereau, who will be interested in the farming operations to be conducted by Mr. Lewis. Mrs. Lewis will leave tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Cantry, who have been visiting with relatives in Northern California for the past three months, returned this morning, delighted with the good time they had had, but pleased to see their Santa Ana friends again.

W. R. C. Notice

Sedgwick W. R. C. will hold a special meeting jointly with the Post and Shiloh Circle this evening, for the purpose of installing the officers-elect. The W. R. C. will serve a 6:30 o'clock chicken dinner to the wives and husbands of the three organizations.

By order of President, BLANCHE M. HEMSTOCK.

MODJESKA TO GIVE TALENT

To Benefit to be Given in Los Angeles for Relief of Suffering Italy

Famous Actress to Appear in Sleep Walking Scene From Macbeth

Madame Helena Modjeska, the wonderful actress, who now makes beautiful Orange county her home, and who is famous the world over for her marvelous delineation of Shakespeare's delightful women, has consented to appear in the all star benefit to be given next Tuesday evening, Jan. 12, in Los Angeles, for the benefit of the Italian earthquake sufferers. Madame Modjeska is at present living at Bay Island, near Balboa, where she and Count Bozenta purchased a home several months ago.

The Los Angeles Examiner says of the proposed appearance: "Madame Modjeska has chosen for the program one of her favorite roles taken from the sleep walking scene in 'Macbeth.' The scene requires the characters of another woman and a man, and these she will early select so that rehearsals may begin at once.

Nothing but the appeal of "sweet charity" could have induced the famous Polish actress to make a public appearance at this time, for with her husband, Count Bozenta, her retirement at Bay Island in Corona Del Mar, has been complete. Furthermore, she has been ill the past few days from a severe cold, and the act prompted by the exceeding kindness of her heart will be all the more an effort.

"The distressing news from the earthquake stricken zone of fair Italy and sunny Sicily, however, has filled her with sympathetic sadness, and the favor which money could not buy will be granted with the thought that the suffering across the seas may be lessened thereby. Madame Modjeska entered with interest into the plans placed before her yesterday morning and assured the 'Examiner' that she would be pleased to appear. This attitude on the part of the great actress is most significant toward the success of the arranged benefit.

"Madame Modjeska made her first American appearance in San Francisco in 1877, after having become the leading actress in her native country. This was followed by a starring tour of the United States. After two London engagements she returned here to play leading Shakespearean and other roles.

"The scene from 'Macbeth' which the actress has chosen for the benefit was one of her favorite performances during her remarkable stage career, and the humanitarian cause that makes this artist's rendition possible once more before a worshipping American audience is sure to lend to it a deeper charm."

W. C. T. U. HEARD L. T. L. SPEAKER YESTERDAY

The Santa Ana W. C. T. U. held a very interesting meeting in the First Baptist church on yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. W. L. C. Samson and Mrs. W. G. Gould in charge of the meeting. The usual order of exercises were changed and all business was transacted before the program.

Mrs. G. P. Hill was elected superintendent of the Young Women's Christian Union.

Mrs. Tedford gave the report of the W. C. T. U. distribution to the city poor, of forty boxes of provisions at Thanksgiving. A large donation was sent in by the school children.

The subject for the afternoon was Loyal Temperance Legion work. Mrs. W. L. C. Samson led the devotional service. "Onward Christian Soldiers" was sung, and Mrs. Harris rendered a very beautiful solo. Mr. Morgan McKoon, state president of the Loyal Temperance Legion of New York, and a national organizer, who is spending a month in Southern California for work among the young people, was introduced by Mrs. Gould and gave a splendid address to the W. C. T. U. He spoke along the lines of temperance among the young people, saying among other things that there are three things to consider, the moral, the economic and the educational. We are learning that the economic is not the chief thing to consider and that the educational work through the children is the best way to reach good results.

The question of leaders seems to be the excuse in all of the unions that are without L. T. L's, but the L. T. L. correspondence training school could fit any one for a leader who had the work at heart.

After the close of school, Mr. McKoon held a very interesting meeting for children at 4 o'clock. The children sang the song composed by Mrs. Oakley, "Work With Little Children Now," and Bina Smith gave a recitation.

The president announced that a mistake in dates had been made in the yearly program, and that the meetings would be held on the regular meeting days, which are the second and fourth Tuesday of each month. The next meeting will be held on Jan. 26. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Gardner, Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Russell.

Week of Prayer

The week of prayer is being observed at the First Presbyterian church, with Rev. J. H. Stevenson preaching each night. Miss Nan Tedford is singing. The subject for tonight is, "The Great Saviour—Jesus."

THE HISTORY OF HEALING THROUGH PAST TO FUTURE

The valuable paper given below on the "History of Healing" was written by Rev. W. H. Wotton and read before the Psycho-Therapy Club at a meeting held at the Robert McFadden home, 1108 N. Main street, Monday evening, Jan. 4, 1909. It not only reveals research and a careful presentation of historical facts, but is put in such interesting guise as to attract even the most casual reader, while to the student it is fascinating. The paper follows:

The History of Healing—Such is the ambitious title of the subject suggested to me for this paper. The mere mention of it brings one face to face with the fact that it is as wide in scope and endless in detail as the history of the human race. Let me therefore at the outset anticipate your derisive smile, and disarm your criticism of my apparent megacephalic ambition, in undertaking such a task, by saying that I can only hope to outline in the barest way, some of the main epochs in the history of medicine.

New theories of the origin and nature of disease, new methods of prevention, and new methods of dealing with the ills of humanity, are attracting so much attention throughout the civilized world in our day, and accomplishing such tremendous results, that thoughtful people feel under compulsion to set in order what ever of definite knowledge they may have on the subject; to bring to the consideration of present developments, that clearness of thought and sanity of judgment, which will enable them to discriminate between the true demonstrable facts, and the absurd claims of irresponsible credulity, to welcome and further by all possible means, whatever is making for the betterment of human life, and to erect a barrier of reason against that flood of hysteria and superstition which has so strangely, and so invariably seemed to mark every advance in human history.

Present conditions can only be rightly measured, and present results estimated, by an understanding of that which has gone before. The theory and practice of medicine has travelled a long difficult and weary road, a road marked with many a blunder, with much that was grotesque, and much of bitter agony and unnecessary tragedy. Scholars, heroes and martyrs, have jostled with ignorant charlatans and mercenary frauds. But at last we think and hope that the road is issuing into a fair and open place, and that the day is dawning when humanity may be freed from many of the ills which have heretofore been regarded as the appointed lot of man, and that, not through the occult or the magical, but by the simple mastery and use of laws, which though always in existence, are only now being clearly discovered. Kipling in speaking of the Naval supremacy of Great Britain, says, "If blood be the price of Admiralty, Good Lord we had paid it well," and in like manner, if tortures, misery and wholesale death be the price of the laws of health and development, the old world has paid a heavy fee, and we have the right to believe that we may possess that which has been so dearly bought. The great principles which form the basis of sound health and vigor, are fairly well understood, and at least among civilized peoples, the old devastating plagues and scourges, the black death, cholera, leprosy and kindred horrors have been robbed of their terror; and at the present time the attack is being directed against the great white plague of tuberculosis, and there is every reason to hope and expect that in the near future it will have no more power among intelligent people, than leprosy has today.

To say that the human body is the most marvelous piece of mechanism of which we can form any conception, is merely to mention the most patent truism. But the material on which this mechanism is to work, in other words the environment in which it is placed, while on the whole beneficent, is yet sometimes hostile and stubborn, and when the ego drives the physical mechanism beyond its power, demands of it tasks for which it was not designed, allows it to work on improper material, or under circumstances which are inimical to its welfare, injury is inevitable, pain and sickness develop, and the abused machine rebels. This must have been one of the earliest lessons learned by the race, and when nature demanded the payment of the penalty for her broken laws, what more natural than that the victims should seek to alleviate the suffering, to heal the wound, to cure the disease? And yet, because the processes of the body are so intricate, so hidden, the method of dealing with its ills was necessarily largely superstitious, and experimental.

It is to the land of the Pharaohs and the Nile that we owe our knowledge of the earliest attempts of men to deal with medicine in a systematic way. Of course the methods were crude, and from our point of view perhaps ridiculous, but, when we remember some of the methods pursued in our own time, after the lapse of four thousand years, we can scarcely afford to flatter ourselves on our superiority. The papyrus of Ebers, dating from the sixteenth century B. C. affords us our earliest view of the usual practice. As the priests were almost the sole possessors of knowledge, and exerted the greatest influence over men, they were naturally the chief practitioners. They practiced the simpler operations of surgery, did what their native common-sense taught them to do in the case of broken bones and ordinary wounds, and for the rest, depended on formulas, ceremonies, incantations, etc., which at least had this advantage over some more modern methods, that if they did no good, they certainly did no harm, and beneficent old Mother Nature had a chance to do her work without the complicated hindrances of experimental medicine.

At the time of the Exodus, the Hebrews carried away from Egypt jewels, silver and gold, but more valuable by far than these, they carried with them also, the knowledge of Egyptian medicine. In a very short time, however, there is such a vast stride taken in advance, that I at least am compelled to attribute it to other than human agency. The book of Leviticus, and Numbers, unfold such a wonderful grasp of the laws of sanitation and hygiene, such detailed directions for the preservation and restoration of health, and for the prevention of disease, that I cannot be credulous enough to believe that it emanated solely from the intelligence of a mob of recently freed slaves. It is well also to bear in mind that it is largely owing to the strictness with which these same people have observed this ancient code of health, that through all history, the Jews, as a people, have escaped the ravages of disease which have so frequently decimated other portions of the human family. If one could imagine the slaves of our own South, within a few years of the close of the Civil war, originating a code in any way comparable with the books in question, there would be a parallel case. I am here not concerned with defending this position, but merely state as my own personal opinion, that the explanation is to be found in the fact of a revelation from a Higher power than man.

Now in this Hebrew code, all disease, all sickness is attributed to sin, and it yet remains for anyone to suggest a more natural or rational theory as to its origin. The old definition of sin, is that it is a transgression of the Law. It is impossible to conceive of any spot in the universe which is not under the domain of law, and it is equally impossible to imagine any spot which escapes from the working of law, without paying the last farthing of the penalty. The man who sows grain in his field will reap as he has sown, and the man who sows his wild oats, will in due process of time find his harvest also waiting for his reaping. Let a man thrust his hand into the fire, or take poison into his body, and not all the faith, and affirmations and denials of all the mental gymnasts in the world will prevent the arrival of the decreed result. Simply the law has been broken, the inevitable penalty is demanded, and MUST be paid. And this is the meaning of the assertion that disease is the result of sin; this is the explanation of the fundamental teaching of Hebrew therapeutics. The moral aspect of the subject is so much in evidence, that it naturally fell to the share of the Priests and Levites to combine their religious duties with the office of the physician. At a later period of Hebrew history, during the dark days of the captivity, they were brought into touch with the medical schools of the Assyrians, who in turn had received from Greece the results of their independent investigations; measured by modern standards, perhaps there is little apparent advance from the days of the Exodus, to the time of Christ, but at least the profession was in a state of gradual development, and on the return from the captivity, we read of a temple physician, and early in the Christian era, of a city physician, who was held in high esteem. Still there was little knowledge of anatomy, such surgery as was practiced was of the crudest kind, and such medical treatment as was given was merely in the application of obvious remedies.

It is customary to attribute to the philosophers of India, a profound and wonderful knowledge of many things which are hidden from the rest of the world, but their writings, while showing them to have been close observers of pathological phenomena, also reveal, that they had a perfect genius for misinterpretation. It seems to have been impossible for them to reason calmly from cause to effect. They could not see, they could not understand the mysterious processes which go on in the human body, and when the abnormal presented itself, it was attributed to the work of evil spirits, and the overworked demons and devils, were made to bear the responsibility which ought to have been placed on the shoulders of those who were habitually abusing the code of law under which alone nature assumes to man the right to live a life of normal health and happiness. It is but just however to observe that occasionally among these Indian medics, there were to be found men who hinted at the importance of right principles of living, and who taught that attention to diet, to bathing, to habits of piety, was essential to the preservation of health, but unfortunately for the advancement of the science, such men as these were in a hopeless minority, and were far from popular.

Chinese medicine, need not take up much of our time; apparently it has made little advance from the days of the emperor Hwang-ti who lived about 2700 B. C. to the present, and those who are interested may readily investigate it in the establishment of the present exponents of the art on Main street, Los Angeles. They have been quite innocent of any knowledge of anatomy, and their remedies probably are exactly the same today as they have always been. Indeed it would not require a great effort to imagine that some of them now in use, were put up in the reign of the late lamented Hwang-ti, and kept in storage more or less cold ever since.

Greece brought to the science that clear philosophical temper, and lucidity of thought, which made her pre-eminent in almost every field of human progress. Aesculapius was to Greece, what Hermes had been to Egypt. Diet, and pure air were prescribed, together with friction, and massage of the body. Materia medica was greatly enriched with some drugs which have since been recognized as standard remedies. But the old flood of ignorance was by no means conquered, no worthy successor of these giants appeared, and dreams, sacrifices in the temples, in the groves and mysterious arts and incantations, rapidly undid the work which they had done.

Hippocrates is the first really great name in the annals of medicine, indeed he is fondly called the Apostle of rational medicine. His date is from 467 to 357 B. C. He gathered together all that could be found on the subject, and adding to this the result of his own investigation, he classified the various branches of the science, traced the nature of various diseases, labeled them as epidemic, endemic, or sporadic. He also wrote largely on surgery, on hygiene, and the correct rules of diet and nourishment. The range of knowledge possessed by this old philosopher was immense, and his powers of description were marvelous. From this time on there is a distinct evidence of the crystallization of thought in several distinct schools, chief among which were the dogmatic, regarding all diseases as distinct entities to be studied and treated by invariable rules under all circumstances, and the empiric who used only remedies which had the warrant of experience.

But it is with the founding of the library of Alexandria, by Ptolemy, a lieutenant of Alexander the Great (320 B. C.), that the true philosophical and anatomical period of medicine dates. This school became the center of medical thought and learning, and held this position for many years. Learned men from every country on earth, sought its halls, drawn hither by the fame of its teachers. It was here men first sought knowledge, at first hand from the specialized study of the body itself, and dissection was for the first time practiced. Many great and new discoveries were made here, especially in regard to the eye, the brain, the heart, and the intestinal canal. Controversy between the opposing schools of dogmatism and empiricism was constant, but this controversy worked for the advance of the science as a whole. Observation was systematized, cause and effect studied, the action of various drugs investigated, with the result of a large enrichment of the pharmacopoeia. Divergencies of opinion were sharply marked; the dogmatist, essentially rationalistic, having discovered that a certain method has in one case produced a certain result, reasoned that a similar result would always follow the same method, overlooking the fact that no two human beings are constituted in exactly the same way. The empiricist, depending more largely on his own investigation, experiment and initiative, and if the result was frequently disastrous to the patient, yet the practitioner sometimes stumbled on a truth of great value, and at any rate his refusal to be bound by tradition, prevented the science from being held perpetually in a state of undevelopment. It may not be out of place to suggest that these two schools of thought are as distinctly marked in the medical profession today, as they were in the days of the school of Alexandria. The dogmatist commences his education with a prejudice in favor of a particular method; through his college course he sits at the feet of those teachers who are most in accord with his own predilections, and when, having received his diploma, he is let loose on an unsuspecting world, he adheres rigidly to the methods in which he has been trained. Calomel, aconite, digitalis, have once produced certain results; the presumption therefore is that they will always produce the same, and so he proceeds to prescribe digitalis, aconite and calomel. If the expected result follows, the doctor has scored, but if it should fail, well, so much the worse for the patient. The doctor wears an air of injured innocence, meditates more or less calmly on the perversity of the human family, and proceeds to follow the same methods with the next victim. But as to making any radical change in the traditional treatment, perish the thought, and let him who suggests it, be "Anathema Maranatha." Our empiric friend, however, is bound by no such scruples. He has theories of his own, which he is eager to demonstrate, experiments which he has long been anxious to make. He goes gaily to the bedside of his patient and proceeds to treat him as first, a subject for experimentation and, secondly, as a patient to be healed. Of course these are violently exaggerated specimens; they are the dead weight which hinder the progress of true science. There are quacks, charlatans and frauds in every profession, parasites whose only purpose seems to be to nourish themselves at the expense of the honorable practitioner, and, at least among the unthinking, to bring discredit on the whole profession. The higher the art, the greater is the liability to these attacks, and the medical profession is by no means alone in this vulnerability. As for the great majority of the medical men, they are of course, and always have been, the peers in intelligence, skill, and unselfish devotion, of any men on earth.

With the decadence of Greece, the advance in the medical art is led by Rome. Celsus, who was a contemporary of Christ, compiled a very elaborate history of all available knowledge on the subject. He himself practiced extensively, following largely in the methods of Hippocrates. He was the preeminent authority until the time of Galen (130-201). During his long life he was a most voluminous writer, having issued over one hundred books. His is one of the really great names in medical history. He examined and described every bone in the human body, he made a close study of the muscles, and described their functions. He investigated the intricate and marvelous nervous system, and the phenomena of sensation. He taught that the nerves of sensation proceeded from the brain, and those of motion from the spinal marrow. For the purpose of more complete and accurate study of the science, he divided the body into cranial, thoracic and abdominal cavities. He rightly believed that no progress was possible without an exhaustive knowledge of anatomy, and made every effort to popularize the subject, but he was too far in advance of his contemporaries; men still preferred mysterious mixtures, occult symbols, and weird incantations. The efforts of the great Galen met with small success, and with his death there was an end of all progress for several centuries, though until the seventh century such skill as was obtainable, was in the possession of his followers.

About the time of Charlemagne, and in connection with the increase of missionary enterprise, and the founding of the monasteries, the healing art received great impetus at the hands of the ecclesiastics. It was largely owing to the efforts of the church, and the wealth, influence and skill which were at her service, that the great and notable schools of Europe were founded. Salerno, Bologna, Vienna, Paris, are some of the prominent examples, and in them are to be found the beginnings of many of the methods of the present day, both in medicine and surgery. During the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, chemical knowledge made great strides; many metallic preparations were for the first time used in medicine. Naturally the disturbances of the time, the wars of conquest, and the unsettled conditions of life, were antagonistic to the development of the best interests in any direction; but as civilization in the modern sense of the term, became more firmly established, medical knowledge took advantage of the increased opportunities.

It would be difficult to over-estimate the boon which the improvement of the microscope has proved to be, in the enlarging of the scope of human knowledge; it has brought within the field of accurate observation, an immense field of truth, which perforce was closed to the unaided vision. The same is true of the great advance in chemistry, which has given man an

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

Hay dealers are clutching at the last wisps and holding the few they have at such a sky-scraping price that the market is now higher than it has ever been in Los Angeles. This week has seen choice barley and wheat move right up to $25.00 a ton and the red oat variety has even gone 1.00 higher than that high price. The little alfalfa in this part of the country is bringing as much as 22.00 a ton. That which comes from the north is worth a trifle less. Farmers in all sections of the state have practically ceased selling hay and will not dispose of any more until the rains come. Hollister and Gilroy are shipping some hay here, but the prices are almost prohibitive. A few cars of timothy from the other side of the Rocky mountains have been received in the course of the past week. With the present high quotations, there is a report rumored on the street that a shipment by boat will be made from Seattle or Portland.

A reaction in produce lines was very noticeable. The heavy Monday trading knocked that of yesterday into a nothingness comparatively. Several good sales of eggs were reported on the street, but on the Produce Exchange the market remained calm, only 7 cases of case-counts changing hands. Receipts were 114 cases. Prices advanced fractionally on local eggs.

Butter arrivals were 15,972 pounds. There were no orderings and no changes. Cheese was well offered, but there was a wide divergence and the brokers would not agree on prices, which would have made sales. Arrivals of cheese were very light, 29 pounds.

The potato market showed scarcely any features worth mentioning. Arrivals were 2140 sacks, many of them from the Sacramento Valley and a good portion from Oregon. Early Rose were the heaviest trading variety.

Onion arrivals were above the ordinary, 875 sacks. They were in fair call on the street, but not called for on 'change. Garlic was well offered. Bean arrivals were 501 sacks. Limas were the only variety offered on 'change and the price on them was held higher than merchants seemed willing to pay, with the impending decline.

Sweet potato receipts were 266 sacks. The market on these was slow and without changes.

Hood River, Oregon, apples predominated in arrivals of 3158 boxes of that fruit. Pearmaines were in good call and Jonathans were well offered. The decline in citrus fruit has given the market an added impetus and oranges moved better than they would have, at the figures of last week.

The decline in citrus fruit has given the market an added impetus and oranges moved better than they would have, at the figures of last week. Lemons are selling at an average of 2.75.

Linseed oil advanced again. This makes the second rise within a week on that particular oil. In barrels it is now selling at 66 cents. In cases prices are 6 cents higher.

BOLD BURGLARS BREAK INTO THE
BALBOA PAVILION

BALBOA, Jan. 6. (Special to the Register)—The Balboa Pavilion was burglarized last night, and as a result the proprietor, F. W. Beckwith, is loser to the extent of some $75 in merchandise and cash.

The part of the pavillion set apart for a store and refreshment stand is closed at night by heavy wire screens or shutters. One of these was pried loose, giving entrance to the burglar or burglars, who entered and carried away some $50 worth of cigars, $10 worth of candy, $5 worth of chewing gum and about $3 or $4 from the cash register, which they broke open.

The character of the goods taken and other evidence leads Mr. Beckwith to believe the burglary was the work of boys, but he has no clue to their identity.

Two of the Horse Thieves Who

Guilty

ONE TURNED OUT
AT LOS ANGELES

Judge Will Name Terms to be Served on Friday
Next

Los Angeles Times:—Jose Martinez and Merced Marquez, two Mexicans charged with stealing three valuable horses, the property of J. L. Vignes, owner of Los Cerritos Rancho near Long Beach, were arraigned before Judge Wilbur, yesterday, and figuratively "threw up their hands." They not only pleaded guilty to the charge, but insisted that they be immediately sentenced by the court. When asked if they desired attorneys, both men through an interpreter, declared they had done wrong; that they knew it, and could see no reason for making a fight to get out of something they knew themselves to be guilty of. They would not listen to the idea of making a defense, but said they were ready to take the sentence of the court.

The position of the prisoners so astounded the court that both men were ordered committed until Friday, when they will be allowed to produce any character witnesses they may be able to muster. "What is the use?" said Martinez, as he left the courtroom. Jose Quesada, captured with Martinez and Marquez, was released, as it appeared there was no testimony to convict him of the crime of horse stealing. Deputy Sheriff Harry Wright testified that the two accused men had stolen horses in both Santa Barbara and Ventura counties, before appropriating three of the best horses on Los Cerritos Rancho.

CONFERENCE OPENED
MOST AUSPICIOUSLY

The annual conference of the Unitarian churches of Southern California opened in the local Unitarian church yesterday evening, with a good attendance of ministers and lay delegates from all over the south. Rev. Heber Rice of Pomona presided during the evening meeting. Rev. Francis Watry of the local church welcomed the delegates to Santa Ana to the church, and to the homes of the congregation.

Rev. E. Stanton Hodgkin, of the Los Angeles church, was introduced, as the conference minister. Rev. Hodgkin has recently come to the coast, from the Minneapolis charge, and takes the place of Rev. Burt Estes Howard. He was cordially received, and his sermon, on "Religion and Morality," demonstrated his ability and charm.

After the evening service, the visiting friends were informally received, and a general good time, in which old friendships were renewed, and new acquaintances made, was enjoyed by all.

THE HISTORY OF
HEALING THROUGH
PAST TO PRESENT

understanding of the various powers and properties of matter, and made it possible for him to predict with some degree of accuracy, what result will probably follow from the use of various substances. The eighteenth century saw the rise of the Homoeopathic school, and although the original theories of Hahneman have undergone many modifications and changes, this school numbers among its practitioners, many of the most illustrious names in modern medicine, and is held in high esteem by a large clientele among the general public. The status of the practitioner has been raised.

The nineteenth century was of course in this, as in every other branch of effort, a time when the advance was greater than the sum total of all previous achievements. A mere list of the great names, and of the various advances and discoveries, would be wearisome, and it would be useless to attempt to trace the wonderful development made in every direction. Jenner, to whose discovery of the properties of vaccine we owe in great measure, to whose discovery of the proper and loathsome ravages of smallpox; Virchow, with his patient investigations in the realm of cellular pathology; Lister, whose teachings of antiseptics, has in enormous degree lessened the terrors of the operating room and increased the chances of a favorable recovery by an enormous percentage; Pasteur, with his serums—are some of the most notable. And perhaps the greatest boon of all, was the discovery of anaesthetics. When Simpson in Edinburgh in 1847 proved the beneficent use of chloroform, he marked an epoch in medicine, and since that day, operations which before would have been impossible, have become almost daily occurrences. The use of cocaine, and of the various preparations of opium, though not free from great danger of abuse in unskillful hands, are yet in the main a great enrichment to the armory of the physician of repute, and the same may be said of the anti-toxic serums, and of the use of the various electrical therapeutic paraphernalia.

We cannot however be blind to the fact that the race is becoming very impatient with all old time methods, and is commencing to look for its relief from its ills in a very different direction. Materialism has always made a brave fight, and persisted in regarding man merely as a material entity, responsive only to material forces. Of course there have been some notable exceptions to this rule, and of course, also, in the rebound from this position, there has been the inevitable tendency to excess in the other direction. Lourdes, with its claims of miraculous and incredible cures, is a case in point. This was an insignificant little town in France, until in 1858 it was announced that an apparition of the Blessed Virgin had appeared to Bernadette Soubirous. A magnificent church has since been erected on the spot of the alleged apparition, a church enriched with the lavish gifts of countless pilgrims. The water from the springs is caught in grottoes and basins, and the number of visitors is said to be more than 300,000 in a year. There can be no reasonable question that many sufferers are greatly benefited here, but as to the exact explanation of the cures whether they are due to the waters, to the faith of the sufferers, to the change of scene and environment, or to still more hidden agencies, there is naturally room for great differences of opinion.
